"Every child is an artist. The problem is how to remain an artist once we grow up"
~ Pablo Picasso

What may look like a random splattering of paint or a drawing that in no way resembles the intended animal is a priceless expression of your child's inner self and a light towards their ongoing development. The inclusion of arts education in primary aged children carries with it a large variety of benefits that last longer than the paint smeared on the wall. According to the Americans for the Arts (2013), some of the benefits include:

- 1) Stimulates and develops the imagination and refines cognitive and creative skills.
- 2) Has a tremendous impact on the developmental growth of every child and has proven to help level the "learning field" across socio-economic boundaries.
- 3) Strengthens problem-solving and critical-thinking performance, and goal-setting, which are skills that are needed to succeed in the classroom and beyond.
